

Toby Morfin
visual artist

Toby Morfin is a multi-faceted artist who works with pastels, oils, charcoal and other media. He was born in Española which is located in Northern New Mexico and has been a painter for most of my life. Having lived all over Southwest, his artwork has been heavily influenced by the rich and diverse cultures of the Hispanic and Native American people who reside there. The vast majority of his work is based off of his everyday life experiences, observations, and surroundings. The way everyday life affects him influences his media choices .

Toby Morfin's Provocation for Students:
As a future teacher or community contributor, why do you think it's important to learn the interests of your students, families, and the community?
